Maureen joined Lambert Coffin as an associate in 2010. Prior to returning to Portland, Maureen practiced with a large firm in Boston where she represented both debtors and creditors committees in chapter 11 cases and out-of-court restructurings. Since joining Lambert Coffin, Maureen has focused her practice on civil litigation with an emphasis on representing healthcare providers in defense of medical malpractice claims and licensure complaints.

“The energy I bring to my practice is complimented by the truly remarkable individuals with whom I work. What I enjoy most of my practice of law is the opportunity to develop creative solutions to achieve the best result for our clients and the community.”

Maureen earned her B.A. from University of Virginia, and her J.D., magna cum laude, from Roger Williams University School of Law. While at Roger Williams, Maureen served as an assistant editor on the Roger Williams Law Review, vice president of the Environmental Law Society, and a governing board member of National Association of Environmental Law Societies.

Maureen was born and raised in Maine and currently resides in downtown Portland with her husband. In her spare time, she enjoys the many outdoor pursuits Maine offers, including skiing, hiking, surfing, and ultimate frisbee. She is actively involved with youth ultimate frisbee and coaches the Falmouth Ultimate high school team.
